Regent's University London

Do you find that being part of a climate change group impacts the way you feel about climate change itself?

My study seeks to find this out so psychologists can understand and support your age group better.

Criteria:

- Are you aged between 18 - 29 years old?
- Are you a self-identified Climate Change activist and member of an activist group?
- Do you speak and write in a good level of English and live in the United Kingdom?
