Loughborough University

The purpose of this project is to increase our understanding of how families discuss body weight, shape and appearance, and if/how this relates to young people's (aged 18-25 years) wellbeing, eating attitudes and kindness towards themselves. We are particularly interested in understanding these aspects within the context of COVID-19/Coronavirus, which has changed many day-to-day routines and impacted upon the time young people are spending at home and in the company of their families.
