Online Questionnaire, Interview and Experiment

London, UK

University of East London

We are recruiting volunteers with an Eating Disorder diagnosis to take part in this experiment which involves completing some questionnaires (about eating, understanding and experience of your feelings, and your mood over the last month) as well as a computer task where you will try to recognise states that a person is feeling, and a task about perceiving feelings in yourself. There will also be a short interview to assess your current Eating Disorder symptoms.
